Precisely Where You Belong

METTLER TOLEDO

"Hello"

Olivier Filliol, CEO

Employees are what count at METTLER TOLEDO: They set things in motion with commitment, motivation, and personal initiative. We are a global team that forms a unique network with a strong focus on common objectives. We are continuously on the lookout for new solutions to improve our customers' processes.

This is what's so appealing about METTLER TOLEDO: an international industrial company with a decentralized organization and result-oriented business culture. What I find most fascinating is the fact that METTLER TOLEDO is internationally oriented, but at the same time takes a personal approach. The product range is extremely wide and offers insights into many areas. Our products evolve steadily and support the overall development of the company.

I began working at METTLER TOLEDO in 1998 in the Business Development department. As a General Manager in the USA, I was involved in a realignment process. I then joined a business unit which was on its way to being converted into an independent division, became a member of the Group Management Committee and Manager of Global Sales, Service and Marketing. I was appointed the role of CEO in 2008.

Our decentralized organization offers opportunities for active involvement. Dedicated employees have numerous opportunities at METTLER TOLEDO to utilize and develop their professional and personal skills, as well as to develop their career. There is little conventional hierarchy here. Individuals who enjoy networking, are able to communicate well and are passionate about their field, will fit in perfectly at METTLER TOLEDO.

International flair and innovation shape our culture, and are a part of our daily business. There's no doubt, you'll feel right at home at METTLER TOLEDO.

As a global company, METTLER TOLEDO offers numerous opportunities for professional and personal development in diverse sectors.

In this brochure we would like to introduce our employees, our company as well as our products and solutions. All these elements, and the passion behind them, make METTLER TOLEDO precisely where you belong!

Laboratory Solutions

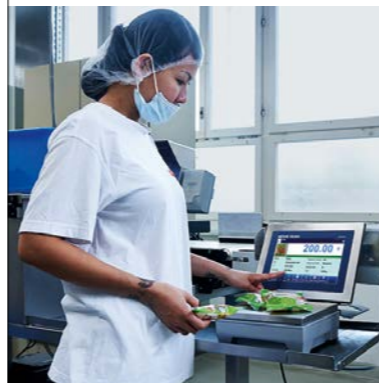

Our laboratory instruments provide solutions that support our customers from research and development to finished product quality assurance and control.

Process Analytics Solutions

Our process analytics solutions for pH, dissolved and gas-phase oxygen, dissolved CO₂, conductivity and turbidity support the food and beverage, chemical, biotechnology and pharmaceutical industries.

Industry Solutions

Our industry solutions extend the options in terms of production, packaging, and logistics.

What Michael likes the most about METTLER TOLEDO is our quality-oriented and open culture.

From Idea to Solution

Our Products and Solutions

We offer precision instruments and services for many applications in research and development, quality control, production, logistics and retail to customers around the world.

The focus of our day-to-day business is our customers. Their needs and demands are continuously on the increase due to the dynamic conditions of the market and our product range and service help overcome these challenges. It's not just outstanding solutions that are responsible for our leading position within the industry, but also the fact that our solutions are of maximum value to our customers. Thanks to our innovative solutions, we are able to improve our customers' processes on a continual basis.

Retail Solutions

Our retail solutions are designed for applications in the retail trade ranging from goods received through to the checkout at the counter or register.

Software Products

Our software products and application-specific software can be easily implemented into IT environments. This increases reliability and efficiency, while helping to ensure that regulatory requirements are adhered to.

Service

Our service includes installation, calibration, preventive maintenance, and repair work. In addition, we offer training courses, seminars for customers, and comprehensive support.

Johanna is thrilled with the agility and development opportunities that METTLER TOLEDO offers.

Our Vision

Our Passion

The only reason why METTLER TOLEDO remains successful is because we constantly strive to provide value to our customers.

We create this value by offering innovative solutions. While we serve our customers locally, we aspire to be their global partner. This requires us to tap into the strength of the whole METTLER TOLEDO network, a team of many thousands of people across the world. Our customers' success is also our success.

Our Vision is:

One Team

Work together with fellow employees worldwide towards common goals.

Only if we work together in teams can we elevate our performance to a higher level. A good team is always stronger than its individual members. This requires everyone to contribute to the best of his or her ability. A successful team not only works well together but also works well with others.

Global Reach

Help METTLER TOLEDO take advantage of its unique network to meet customers' global needs.

Being global does not mean being the same everywhere. We are organized into focused, empowered units with the goal of being flexible and customer-oriented. Part of our skill set is to fit within the local environment and culture and to respect differences.

Amazing Solutions

Think in new ways to provide solutions that improve customers' processes.

Innovation has been a cornerstone of the success of METTLER TOLEDO. Innovation still means traditional research and development, but it goes beyond technology and involves all of us. To stay ahead, we need to change our mindset and think in new ways.

One of our amazing solutions is our LabX software and Thomas is proud to be part of our Software Development Center.

Our Company Values

A Culture of Diversity and Inclusion

Each of us at METTLER TOLEDO can be proud of the unique culture and tremendous spirit that radiates from our organization. We have each played a role in making METTLER TOLEDO a great place to work.

Making up our culture are a number of values that guide our behavior. Each day we must recommit to following these values. Because, through them, we have the power to shape our future. Our values are key in ensuring we achieve our vision for the company.

We Perform with Integrity

We behave ethically and legally.

Performance with integrity is a fundamental value that supports all our corporate values.

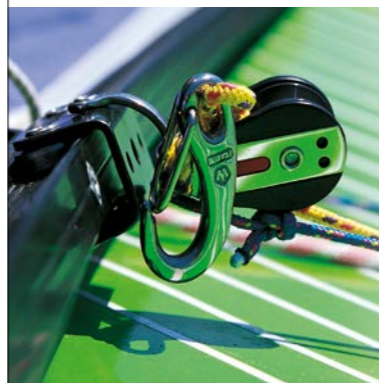

We Pursue Innovation

We put good ideas to work.

We have long been a leader in innovation not only in products and services, but in the way we think about everything.

We Deliver Quality
